FROM THE

PASTOR

These are important days as we approach elections within our country, state and community. I have been touched by a guide prepared by Sojourners entitled “Principles and Policies for Christian Voters.” I want to reference the issues raised in this guide and encourage you to consider these as you make your decisions during this election season.

As people of faith, we can find many places within the Scriptures that point out the importance of the welfare of others. For example, Proverbs 31:9 states, “Speak out, judge righteously, defend the rights of the poor and needy.” So as the guide begins, the authors say, “Christians have moral and civic responsibility to participate in the political life of society by prayerfully measuring the proposed policies of all candidates against Christian ethics and values.” I couldn’t agree more. These are important times and we need to make prayerful decisions.

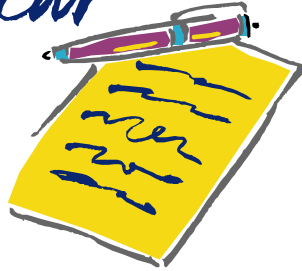

I would now like to list some of those important places where Christian ethics and values are described in this guide.

- Compassion and Economic Justice
  - o Work must work and provide for family economic success and security
  - o Children should not be poorExtreme global poverty must end
- Peace and Restraint of Violence
  - o Bring peace to Iraq
  - o Eliminate nuclear weapons
  - o Support security and freedom in the Middle EastStrengthen the United Nations and international law to fight terrorism
- Consistent Ethic of Life
  - o Dramatically reduce abortion
  - o End capital punishmentStop genocide
- Racial Justice
  - o Reverse racial disparitiesEnd environmental racism
- Human Rights, Dignity, and Gender Justice
  - o Establish humane and holistic immigration policies
  - o End torture worldwideStop human trafficking, promote religious freedom, fight HIV/AIDS, and defend the rights of women
- Strengthen Families and Renew Culture
  - o Strengthen marriage and families
  - o Restore integrity to our civic and business practicesPrevent violence
- Good Stewardship of God’s Creation
  - o Reverse global climate change
  - o Prioritize clean air and waterDevelop clean and renewable energy

As you can see, there are lots of places where Christian ethics and values have something to contribute to the politics of our common life together. I encourage you to learn as much as you can about your candidates views on these issues. Then on election day, please be sure and vote based upon your prayerful decisions.

The Vicar's Voice

A Conversation with Keith

Sometimes we encounter individuals who bless us with a different perspective. Perhaps God's hand is at work- bringing such people in our lives. Recently, I had such an experience. I was at church late one night, still wrestling with my sermon. I was feeling overwhelmed and a little discouraged. So, I decided to get away from desk and just walk around the fellowship hall. I thought that maybe a change of scenery would foster a surge in creativity. As I walked near the kitchen, I was slightly startled to see someone else at the church. I bumped into a man named Keith. Keith leads the Narcotics Anonymous Group that meets in the lower Fellowship Hall on Saturday nights. Well, we struck up a conversation, (my being so shy and all) and the first thing he said was thank you for providing a place for us to meet. He said it several times. And that's when I remembered what a friend told me earlier that day. My friend said that the church does not exist for the people who are already in it! Not even for the ones who will come in the future. But the church is here to be a blessing to those who are lost, to reach out beyond these walls, even to those who will never worship here. That is why we exist....

These words echoed in my mind as I listened to Keith's story. He mentioned that he'd been attending this same support group for six years and that because of these meetings and his belief in his "Higher Power" he has been living a life free of narcotics. That's very impressive. When you stop and think about it, the entire Grace congregation has a part in his recovery simply through our practice of hospitality. (By the way, I asked Keith if I could share a bit of our conversation with you and he said, "By all means!") Well Keith told me that his journey has not been easy. Quite the contrary, it has been a "very difficult task." "Extremely hard". "A lot of tough work." His perseverance made me question my own commitment when God's work seems difficult.

Keith talked about times when the meeting had forty or more participants but he also said that there was a season when only two or three attended. But he said that the numbers were not important. (Boy, that sure is a vital lesson for us to learn, isn't it?) Keith said that what was important was his commitment to be faithful. Keith invited me to join the meeting anytime. He said it was an open meeting and everyone was welcomed. He said, "We just have one requirement." I said, "Oh?" He said, "Yeah, our only requirement is that if you come as a guest, you are not allowed to bring anything." I said, "Bring anything?" He said, "Yeah, guests are not allowed to put money in the collection basket." Wow I was really learning a lot from Keith. Well, if that wasn't enough, Keith left me with this challenge. "Never ask God to guide you if you're not willing to move your feet." What an awesome challenge. It made me wonder, what if God's church was willing to be the generous host? What if we welcomed guests with no expectation of what we could receive? What if we were actually willing to follow God, even if it meant moving our feet beyond our comfort zones? Well, I'm still thinking about my conversation with Keith and I am thankful that God used Keith's story to encourage me. I pray that it encourages you as well!

Vicar Angela Khabebe

"Love from the center of who you are; don't fake it. Run for dear life from evil; hold on for dear life to good. Be good friends who love deeply; practice playing second fiddle. Don't burn out; keep yourselves fueled and aflame. Be alert servants of our God, cheerfully expectant. Don't quit in hard times; pray all the harder. Help needy Christians; be inventive in hospitality."

Stewardship Minute

Monthly reflections on our role as managers of God's blessing.

Month 4

"Effective Stewardship" by Kenneth L. Williams.

"But remember the Lord your God, for it is he who gives you power to get wealth" (Deut. 8:18).

The amount of money we have is determined by God. According to His wisdom and sovereignty, God has placed each of us at some point on the economic spectrum. He has entrusted some people with considerable wealth; to others, He has provided lesser amounts.

The Bible does not assume that it is wrong for people to make money, but rather, it clearly states that God allows people to earn money. Solomon said that money is one of God's many gifts to mankind. In fact, in Ecclesiastes 5, Solomon said that God wants us to enjoy the fruit of our labor, namely, money which we have earned and the things it can buy.

David expressed it this way in his prayer recorded in the 29th chapter of First Chronicles: "Yours, O Lord, are the greatness, the power, the glory, the victory, and the majesty; for all that is in the heavens and on the earth is yours; yours is the kingdom, O Lord, and you are exalted as head above all. Riches and honor come from you, and you rule over all. In your hand are power and might; and it is in your hand to make great and to give strength to all. And now, our God, we give thanks to you and praise your glorious name."

When you stop to think about it, Christians have a great thing going when it comes to money. According to this passage and to other scriptures, God gives us the power and ability to get wealth. He provides the energy, the stamina, the mental and physical ability, the creative juices, and whatever else it takes for us to earn a living. As we saw recently, since God owns everything, He is actually enabling us to earn that which is rightfully His.

October 2008 Stewardship Principle

Our Congregation's Mission Statement is "Inspired by Christ, it is our mission to share God's Word and Love in care and in service to all." As the foregoing list shows, the sharing of our endowment income provides support toward meeting various needs of persons, institutions and agencies locally, elsewhere in our state, our nation, and in foreign countries. This action is in harmony with our congregation's stated mission. And we are blessed with having endowment income sufficient to make significant gifts for ministry through charitable giving.

On Saturday, September 20, 2008, Marsha Moyer and Jack Williams, two of our three Endowment Board of Directors (third member Donna Adrian was on vacation), accompanied by Vicar Angela Khabeb, participated in an all-day seminar on Building & Enhancing Congregational Endowments held at Resurrection Lutheran Church in Gretna. This was a worthwhile event, and we plan to provide important information in the next issue of The Grace Messenger on how all Grace members can participate in the endowment program.

Fundraiser for Jadin Kora Hits Goal!

Many thanks to all who gave generously.

On September 6th, Grace Lutheran Church held a fundraiser for young Jadin Kora, a Sudanese boy, who suffered a injury to his arm/shoulder at birth.

Jadin and his family need to consult specialists in Nebraska and Minnesota. Funds are needed to pay for travel expenses and lodging. At this printing, Jadin's doctors are determining the right course and timing of treatment .

Over 70 people attended the event which included silent auctions on more than 30 items which raised more than $600.00. Other popular activities included the "Pie in the Puss" area and eating delicious foods. An abundance of food was left over at the end of the evening so the party continued on Sunday, September 7th with a potluck dinner. Between both days, over $4000.00 was raised which includes matching funds provided by Thrivent for Lutherans as well as private matching funds.

Thanks to all who made the event a success!

Matthew 6:8b

On September 6th, my husband set out on a two week trip in celebration of our 25th wedding anniversary making a big loop up to Minneapolis into Ontario and Quebec and back through upstate New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois Iowa, and home.

Don and I spent a great deal of time trying to work out the details. The travel agent through our motor club helped us book a few rooms along the way. As those of you who have read about my adventures through the years may remember, my husband likes the “That-a-way” method of travel. You also know how much that method causes craziness in me!! He compromised for the first week by having a plan in Canada. Once we hit the US, however, we just “winged it.” Over and over the phrase from Matthew 6 went through my head. “He knows what I need before I ask...

As I prepared for the trip, I tried to envision every clothing situation I might need. I shopped carefully with my mom and my friend, Marilee, for several weeks before the departure date. I thought I had everything I needed. On one of the last times, I was with my girlfriend, we decided to stop at a thrift store to kill some time. By chance (I now believe divine guidance) I came upon an almost new suede jacket, my size, in my favorite color and cheap! That jacket was one of the most useful items I brought on my trip. It maximized my wardrobe choices and kept me comfortable because of the unanticipated cooler weather. Thanks, God!

Another time, we were supposed to take a bus tour of Quebec City early in the morning. We tried all day, as we traveled, to contact the tour folks to arrange pick up at the motel. No one ever returned our call. Since the trip was something that we prepaid, I fretted on how we were going to get connected and on the bus by 8:00 a.m. the next morning. Even the receptionist at the hotel told us it was hopeless. We got up early in an effort to walk to the terminal, which incidentally everyone told us was “that-a-way” with a French accent. Arrrrrrrgh! (Don thought that was funny!) As we tried one more time to get help from the receptionist early in the morning, a man overheard us and said in a lovely British accent, “Mates, are you going on the tour to Quebec today? Yeah? My wife and I made arrangements to have them pick us up this morning here at the hotel. Just stick with us! The shuttle is due any minute.” That chance encounter (definitely divine guidance) was a delightful addition to our experience. The couple, Brian and Margie Lane, who “coincidentally” have the same first names as a couple and my dear friends from Grace Church, Margie and Brian Sutej, were on holiday from Essex, England. They became traveling mates for the day! It was “lovely” and “brilliant” to listen to their stories of home and family in that fascinating British accent. It was hard to say, “Cheerio!” to them at the end of the day. I know God provided them! Thanks, God!

Over and over on our trip, we encountered people and places that enriched our trip or just plain blessed us. My brother and his wife, making sure we had a 25th wedding anniversary celebration in a wonderful restaurant, (Thanks, Marlon and Deb! We love you.) the receptionist that gave us a wonderful room with a whirlpool in the room and a great view after a horrible experience at her competitor down the road for a great discount, the quiet out of the way place God provided along Lake Superior to sit by the shore and just breathe, the beautiful beginnings of the fall foliage in the Adirondack mountains and the chance to see it by air on a bush plane ride...I could go on and on. Thanks, God!

It’s good to pray and to make known our requests to God but we should never assume that God doesn’t already know what we are going to need in advance. I believe He prepared places and people along this trip to bring joy and adventure to our experience. Then again, now that I think about it, doesn’t He prepare our circumstances in the same way every day? Maybe we just need to look with new eyes.

FAITH IN ACTION

Thank you for the wonderful farewell party. I appreciate the hard work Mary Riley, Sarah Pahl-Ramirez, and Margie Hansen put into making it a wonderful day! It was a great way to end my time with Interfaith Health Service and the Faith in Action program. I hope to see many of you again in the future. A special thank you goes out to Virginia McGill for being a true mentor to me for the past several years. I've learned many things from her and I am glad I had the opportunity to work with her. She always provided a point of view that I didn't always see. Thanks too to Pastor Laaker and the Board of Interfaith Health Service for all of your advice and direction for the program. I also want to thank Pam for always helping me in the office even though she had explained several times to me how to use the special copy machine. There are so many others of you that have helped me along the way. I appreciate all of your kindness and support.

Remember, if you would like some information about starting up or keeping the Faith in Action program going, please contact Virginia McGill at 660-6689.

Thanks again!

Sincerely,
Julie Chytil

Interfaith Health Service Welcomes New Student Group as Volunteers within Our Ministry

For the next 2 months, Interfaith Health Service and is very pleased to welcome a brand new group of Creighton students to our evening Latinas en Accion programs. The students, accompanied by their professor, Dr. Beth Furlong (an Interfaith Board member), are working with me on our Youth/Super Kids Club Program. All of the students are Seniors in the Accelerated Nursing Program. They will be graduating this December with their RN/BSN degree. All have various bachelor's and master's degrees already and bring a wealth of life experience and maturity to our program.

Emily (a Spanish speaker who spent time living in Madrid), Madelyn (a former Assistant to an Iowa Congressman), Erika (a former Youth Pastor and minister) and Lindsey (a BYU graduate who has worked extensively in ministry and with youth) join our programs each Wednesday and Friday evening. Each week, the students are introducing new games and ice breaker activities to our group. Our children have responded amazingly well to the students and have been sharing a lot about their personal histories via the ice breakers. Plus, the children get the added bonus of playing games such as "Link Tag", "Criss-Cross Applesauce Hands", "Cross the River" and many others with Dr. Beth. It isn't often that a university faculty member will come to work dressed in tennis shoes and running gear, but Beth is hands on with all of the activities and can play tag with the best of our group! I believe Beth's role modeling, and the care and concern she expresses for our youth has already touched the hearts of our children and their parents. When I have introduced or talked about Beth with folks, I hear from parents and children alike saying: "She is a PROFESSOR!!! And she comes here just to see us!!! We're special!" This is a reminder for me that I sometimes under-estimate the power of presence, of showing up and of demonstrating lived solidarity in ministry....

As a grand finale for the student rotation, Emily, Madelyn, Lindsey and Erika are in the process of planning a trip to Creighton's Soccer Stadium! Our youth will have the chance to tour Creighton's campus ( many have expressed an interest in doing so for a long time) and meet and play soccer with 6 of Creighton's starting soccer players! The nursing students thought of this activity on their own and pulled a lot of strings to help make it happen. The entire idea was greeted with a great deal of enthusiasm by our women and their children.

I hope and trust that the students will take what they are learning from our women and children, lessons on culture, acceptance, commonalities, struggles, with them in their future careers as health care professionals. I know our youth will remember them long after their rotation ends.

Update on Stewardship Trends in Churches in Las Vegas

This may come as a surprise to those not living in Las Vegas, but it is a very spiritual city, with more Catholic churches than casinos!

Not surprisingly, some worshipers at Sunday services will give casino chips rather than cash when the donation tray is passed.

Since they get chips from many different casinos, the churches have devised a method of turning the chips into cash.

They send all their collected chips to a nearby Franciscan monastery, where the patient and detail-oriented men sort and count the chips. The chips are then taken to the casinos of origin and cashed in.

This is done by the chip monks.
You didn't even see it coming, did you?

Suffering from a bad case of the flu, a man phoned his doctor to get an appointment.

When he was told the scheduled date of the appointment, he became outraged and bel-lowed, "Three weeks? The doctor can't see me for three weeks? I could well be dead by then!"

Calmly, the receptionist replied, "If so, would you have your wife call to cancel the appointment?"

The CEO was scheduled to speak at an important convention, so he asked one of his employees to write him a punchy, 20-minute speech. When the CEO returned from the big event, he was furious.

"What's the idea of writing me an hour-long speech?" he demanded to know. "Half the audience walked out before I finished."

The employee was baffled. "I wrote you a 20-minute speech," he replied. "I also gave you the two extra copies you asked for...."

Things ain't what they used to be
