Christmas Prayer

God of love, we thank you for the gift of life with you.
May we always praise you like the angels and run to you like the shepherds, ever aware of your deep love for us.
We pray for those in special need of your love: for the grieving, the ill, the lonely, the homeless, the hungry, and for all your children throughout the world. Through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen

Dear Friends and Members of Grace,

Our prayers are an important part of our spiritual life. All of us were born into a human family. Christ, our Savior, was born into our human family on this earth. Truly we have received the greatest gift in this holy season. God has entered into our life and has become one like us in Jesus, our Christ. God has placed this gift in our lives and invites us to discover Christ anew.

I invite you to come and experience this gift given. A gift, full of joy, love and thankfulness, for each of us. May we praise our God who loves us in Jesus Christ. May we lift our prayers in love.

My family and I are blessed by your love and care. We cherish your prayers. We see in you the gift of Christ's love that grows and expands.

We invite you to join us in celebration of the birth of our Christ.

May Christ Jesus, bring you peace and joy. Merry Christmas!

The Vicar's Voice

I remember sitting and chatting with Barb and Eva one September afternoon. We were exploring various possible outing activities. As our conversation meandered through a myriad of ideas, finally we arrived at a Ladies Night Out—actually, a Ladies of Grace Night Out. Now, what will we do? Of course there would be food. But what else? A movie? How about a play? That's it! We remembered a poster from the bulletin board about the "Church Basement Ladies." "Church Basement Ladies" is a play inspired, in part, by the best selling book Growing Up Lutheran. That's perfect! Oh yes, this was shaping up to be quite an outing.

Quickly we called the box office only to find out that one of the performances was already sold out and tickets to the other shows were going fast. The box office manager informed us that we should reserve our tickets ASAP and that if we had a group of 12 or more, we would receive a pretty decent discount. I put her on hold and asked Barb and Eva if we should reserve 12 tickets. Eva was enthusiastic. She said, "Put us down for 15 tickets!" Although I was doubtful, I did. And to my very pleasant surprise, the response was so great that I had to ask for 5 more tickets.

Our winter outing was scheduled for November 30th (the first Sunday of Advent). It was an incredible time of fellowship, food, and fun! We met at the church Sunday afternoon and went to dinner together at the Cracker Barrel, YUM! Then we went to Iowa Western Community College to see the "Church Basement Ladies." I think it is safe to say that everyone had an amazing time. The food was good, the fellowship was great, and the play was hilarious. To top it all off, our event was multi-generational! We had ladies from ages 16 to nearly 80! It was a fantastic turn out.

So I got to thinking...if we can reach out and invite our friends and family to a church outing, then certainly we can reach out and invite our friends and family to Sunday morning worship. In fact, I think we can broaden our invitation circle to include neighbors, co-workers, and even casual acquaintances as well. We've already proven we can do it. So as we continue to prepare for our Lord's coming, let us also prepare to invite others to the celebration of Sunday morning Worship. Imagine what God can do through us in our community and beyond! Just think- it all starts with us. Now, as we prepare for our greatest celebration—the birth of Jesus, the Messiah, may we remember our Christian commitment to share this awesome gift with others.

Have an Adventurous Advent, Merry Christmas, and an "Inviting" New Year!

Blessings to you and yours,
Vicar Angela Khabeb

Stewardship Minute

Monthly reflections on our role as managers of God's blessing.

Month 5

An oxymoron is the use of two terms which are contradictory in nature. "Jumbo shrimp" is an oxymoron. "Ferocious lamb" is another. "Dumb scholar" is yet another.

One of the saddest and most contradictory is the oxymoron, "Stingy Christian." Because we have been redeemed through our faith in Christ, Christians should be the most generous of all people. We have been abundantly blessed of God, who has given us all things richly to enjoy (Rom. 8:32).

James 1:17 expresses this truth clearly: "Every generous act of giving, with every perfect gift, is from above, coming down from the Father of lights, with whom there is no variation or shadow due to change."

Think about some of God's good gifts:

God gives the seed (Gen. 1:11).
God gives the rain (Job 5:10).
God gives health (Jer. 30:17).
God gives life (Acts 17:25).
God gives strength (Isa. 40:29).
God gives riches (1 Chron. 29:12).
God gives grace (2 Cor. 12:9).
God gives eternal life (Rom. 6:23).

And God gives us money and the ability to get wealth. Solomon said that money is one of God's gifts to people. The purpose for which He gives us money is stated clearly in Ecclesiastes 5:19 — for our enjoyment.

Some of us make that the primary reason for money. We major in pleasure and the things money can do for us. But there is another major purpose God gives us money, something that also can bring great pleasure: To give it back to Him.

That's why of all the oxymorons in existence, "Stingy Christian" is the most contradictory. We who have been given the most from God should be the most generous people in the world.

As the tombstone in an old cemetery read, "What I spent, I had; what I saved, I lost; what I gave, I have."

Interfaith Health Service--Responding to Participant Requests

For several months, our Interfaith staff and I have been working with a young woman, Martha, as she makes plans to attend college. For as long as she can remember, Martha has desired to become a nurse so that she can "help others and bring them comfort when they are sick." Martha has an extremely caring and genuine nature and is seeking out studies for nursing to help provide for her family while also integrating her desire to help others into her future.

Our Creighton nursing students worked directly with Martha on her application forms, while Gema and I meet on an on-going basis with Martha and her mom about college options, scholarship ideas and goal setting. Interfaith also resourced with the College of Saint Mary's, Metro Community College, Creighton Admissions and Methodist College to gather ideas for Martha and help her solidify her plans.

Martha and I just completed the remaining items on her placement and scholarship documents this month and sent them off to be processed. Martha is hoping to begin nursing pre-requisite classes this coming year. It will not be an easy task for her, she has a young son to arrange childcare for and needs to establish a means of reliable transportation to and from classes. This being said, Martha is enthusiastic about beginning college and her initiative and strong desire to begin her studies mean that she has overcome many odds already in even beginning the college process.

It sometimes takes a village to help the women in our Interfaith programs along with their dreams. I'm grateful to all of the people and organizations who have helped Martha along the way. I am also grateful to Martha for having such a strong commitment to actively pursuing her dream.

Martha has asked that we keep her and her family in prayer as she continues on her journey. May it be fruitful and blessed.

Mil Gracias,
Virginia McGill, Interfaith Health Service

But anytime you need a friend,
I'll just be me.

~Author Unknown

My young grandson called the other day to wish me Happy Birthday. He asked me how old I was and I told him, "Sixty-two."

He was quiet for a moment, then he asked, "Did you start at one?"

From The Editor

I'm a collector. I used to tell everyone not to give me knick-knacks because I didn't like the clutter but on a recent trip around my house, I was shocked to notice how many of those little items I had setting around. Not that I collect expensive things. I love dolls. I have a small fan collection. I have a large cookbook collection and a passion for old sparkly costume jewelry. I tend to let magazines and newspapers pile up because "I might want to read something before I toss it." I also love books so my home is filled with overflowing bookshelves. My family members are collectors, too. Don's silver leaf glasses, M & M dispensers, toy cars and Snoopy memorabilia and Kate's large collection of Sci-Fi books, her keychain collection and the bits and pieces that make her happy are also part of the mix. In short, my house is full!

At Christmastime, the problem of clutter gets even worse. Now along with my family's collections, we need to find room for all the traditional Christmas stuff...the large tree filled with the Christmas ornaments of years gone by, the many decorations that have been collected over the years, the center piece that must fit on the already piled high dining table...room for the wrapping paper and gifts that have been purchased in anticipation of Christmas gatherings with loved ones. The past few years I have had difficulty finding room for the very large crèche my father made me several years ago. My father crafted the building out of rustic materials he found around his workshop and our yards, scavenging bits of bark, twig and moss to complete the look.

As I was taking a look around my house this year, I began to wonder at my reluctance to find room for the nativity scene. I had a lot of excuses...too big...makes me miss Dad too much...too much work to wrestle it out of it's storage place...no room! That's exactly the same circumstance that caused Mary and Joseph to take shelter in a stable on the night of Jesus' birth. No room at the inn.

On Sunday, I heard a sermon on why it was good for Jesus to have been born in a stable and why the first people to hear of the birth of the Messiah were shepherds. Because of His lowly birth, the common, poor people of the world were welcomed, first. If He had been born royalty, only the elite and wealthy would have had access to Him. He had to be born to poor circumstance so that anyone, rich or poor, important or the marginalized would be welcomed.

So, where is the Christ Child in your Christmas season? Is He welcome to a prominent place in your thinking or does He live in a forgotten, dusty storage place in your life? What will you do with Him after Christmas? Will you wrap Him up in tissue paper and put Him back into storage? His greatest desire is to be invited into our daily living. He wants a very intimate and personal relationship with you and I. He is Emmanuel, God with us! All we have to do is acknowledge our need of Him and ask Him to take charge our lives.

"Lord, I cannot live this life without you.
No matter how hard I try, my good works alone will not bring me close to you.
I accept the gift of your Son born to set me free from sin.
Live with me today and everyday. Amen."

May you and yours have a Merry Christmas and a God-filled New Year!

Pam Reents, Editor
