THE GRACE MESSENGER

1889 - 2019

APRIL 2019

Inspired By Christ, it is our mission to share God's Word and Love in care and service to all.

2019 Council Members

Donna Adrian Andrew Edwards Tom Emery
Arlone Farber Janet Hula Marsha Moyer
Terry Nielsen Amanda Vazquez

Pastor Laaker

Officers Serving the Congregation:

Financial: Janet Hula Treasurer: Ralph Fitle

The regular meeting of the Council was held on March 12th. Council members shared their prayer concerns for Arlone and her family, Vicki Cox, victims of recent tornadoes, floods, and other natural disasters, and the people of Venezuela experiencing a blackout.

Devotions: Pastor led devotions from Deuteronomy 5:21 and Romans 13:10. The first tells us not to covet our neighbor's wife. The second reminds us that love does no wrong to our neighbor.

Visions for Ministry: We continued discussion of chapter 2 of Baptized for this Moment by Stephen Paul Bouman. This chapter talked about lamentations and how it is important to recognize laments. One must give in to their laments before one can move forward from their grief. It also talked about how we find hope in despairing times and the incredible strength we find when we need it. Read chapter 3 for next month.

Committee Reports: Reports were received from the Financial Secretary and the Treasurer. Please continue to give generously.

Christian Education

Confirmation retreat is coming up on March 30th.

Service/Social Ministry: None.

Support/Stewardship: None.

Worship: Lent began last Wednesday at St. Luke's. The last Wednesday of March will be a joint service at Augustana.

Unfinished Business: None.

New Business: We are one person short for our Council. If you know of anyone who might consider serving on Council, please share that suggestion. Synod Assembly will be at the end of May. We still need a delegate to attend. Please talk to Pastor if you're interested.

Announcements: Pastor will be in Tampa the last week of March for the Voyagers Conference. Arlone will bring treats for April.

Adjournment: The Council meeting closed in prayer and adjourned at 8:01pm.

Respectfully Submitted, Amanda Vazquez, Secretary

Continued...

The Council has begun reading “Baptized for This Moment; Rediscovering Grace All Around Us” by Stephen Paul Bouman. In the Foreword, Stacy Martin says, “It’s not that we really believe that God resides in church buildings. We know better. But our actions often imply that the world has no place in church. The world is too messy and an hour on Sunday doesn’t leave us enough time to clean things up. This might not be a problem were it not for the theological conundrum of Christ’s incarnation. As Bishop Bouman outlines . . . , we’ve spent so much time trying to figure out how to get the church out into the world, we’ve forgotten to invite the world into our churches.” These words have been bouncing around in my thoughts since I first read the Foreword.

How do we invite the world into our churches? The world is often a very scary place. In the last week, we have watched and listened to the flooding that has devastated much of eastern Nebraska. We have watched and listened to the terrorist who murdered 49 persons of the Muslim faith in New Zealand. Do we dare these horrific things into our churches? Are we not supposed to find peace within our churches? These things don’t bring peace, they only bring sadness and sorrow, helplessness and futility. Our hearts break and we lament these and many other messy things of our world.

Bishop Bouman was serving as Bishop of New York Synod at the time of the terrorist attack on the World Trade Center. He describes the experience of 9/11 and its aftermath. We often want to move on quickly after very difficult times. He suggests that “the first response of the Church in the face of any of the tragedies we now find afflicting us (is): Show up. Listen. Tell stories. Pray.”

I wonder how we might be willing to show up in the most recent tragedies. I wonder how we might listen to those who have experienced these tragedies directly. I wonder if we can encourage the telling of the stories that arise out of the tragedy. I wonder if we can purposefully pray.

I am convinced that hope arises out these efforts. I am convinced that in showing up Christ is present to comfort and attend to the brokenness. I am convinced that the Spirit moves between us as we listen intently to the stories not seeking to simply move on but to pause and hold the sorrow tenderly. I am convinced that prayer in all of its forms is a vital healing measure for the world and the church.

How do you see hope arising out of tragedy? How might we see genuine love get expressed?

Pastor Laaker

Hey Everybody!

I hope everyone has been keeping dry this past month to the best of their abilities. I know we got a little water at the house but I like to look on it as it's nice to finally be able to drive around in the sunshine again. The overall mood of our house seems to have lifted as the seasons change. The halls appear to fill with music once again. As well as the changing of the seasons, the year is going further and faster than ever, and we are actively starting to look for volunteers for the Kids At Work program this summer. We already have a few businesses with confirmed interest and I know that with your help we can make this program a positive experience for everyone. If you are interested in helping, feel free to call me at the church (402-341-7730) or email me at outreach@graceluth.com. Keep an eye out for flyers as well for participants and how they can be involved as well.

Smiles!

Transformed by Grace, Faith and Love Stewardship as a disciple of Jesus

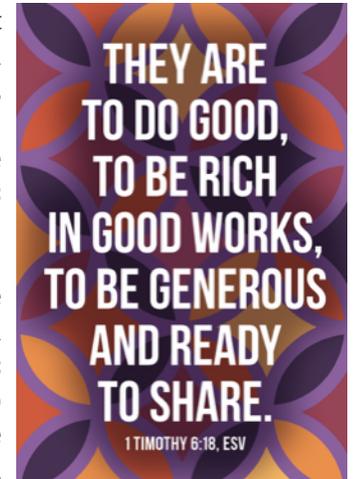

Stewardship is one of the most important concepts we can define. According to Merriam Webster, stewardship is “the conducting, supervising, or managing of something; especially the careful and responsible management of something entrusted to one's care.”

As we enter the season of spring, there will be many opportunities to exercise our careful management of the physical world that makes up our homes. We will have opportunity to plant and attend to the soil. We will have opportunity to clean up areas that have been the repositories of winter debris.

We will also have the opportunity to support those who have been the victims of the flood waters that have devastated so many communities. Our Lutheran Disaster Response team here in Nebraska will be needing resources to assist individuals and families as they seek to clean up and rebuild their properties and lives. We can be generous in support.

We will also have the opportunity to support our ministry efforts that seek to touch the lives of those we know and those we seek to know. Your contributions make a great deal of difference as we seek to be good stewards of all that God has placed in our hands.

May we find joy and delight in careful and responsible management of all that has been entrusted into our care!
